

Delvecchio Finley

Chief Executive Officer

Delvecchio Finley is a visionary leader with a history of creating impactful change in public health care systems. His career achievements with several well-regarded institutions have garnered him recognition as a 2015 'Top 25 Healthcare Leaders under 40' by Becker's Hospital Review, and a 2014 "Young Healthcare Executive of the Year" by the American College of Healthcare Executives. As Alameda Health System's Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Finley embodies the AHS mission of "Caring, Healing, Teaching, Serving All," ensuring the continuation of a 150-year history to serve all residents of Alameda County, regardless of their ability to pay.

Mr. Finley has extensive experience in health care management with several well-regarded institutions including leadership of Harbor-UCLA Medical Center as the Chief Executive Officer. He also has exceptional knowledge of Bay Area health care, having previously served as the Vice President of Operations at California Pacific Medical Center (CPMC), Interim Chief Operating Officer at Laguna Honda Hospital and Rehabilitation Center, Associate Administrator at San Francisco General Hospital and Trauma Center, and Division Administrator at the University of California, San Francisco (UCSF).

Mr. Finley is board certified in health care management and a fellow of the American College of Healthcare Executives (ACHE). He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Chemistry from Emory University, and a Master of Public Policy degree from Duke University where he also attained Graduate Certification in Health Policy, Law, and Management.

He is actively involved in the community, serving on the board of the Public Health Foundation Enterprises, Inc., a non-profit dedicated to improving the health and well-being of communities across the nation. In 2013, California Governor Jerry Brown appointed Mr. Finley to the board of the California Health Profession's Education Foundation.

He is past-President of the California Association of Healthcare Leaders (CAHL) and past-President of the Northern California chapter of the National Association of Health Services Executives (NAHSE). He is also a graduate of the 2007-08 class of Leadership San Francisco and a 2008 Fellow of the National Association of Public Hospitals and Health Systems. He frequently guest lectures at colleges and universities throughout Northern California and has appeared in major health care publications including Healthcare Executive and the Journal of Healthcare Management.
