ABOUT US

John George Psychiatric Hospital (JGPH), located in San Leandro, California, provides psychiatric emergency and acute care services to adults experiencing severe and disabling mental illnesses. The hospital provides psychiatric care for nearly 100 percent of all acute psychiatric emergencies in Alameda County.

JGPH uses a multi-disciplinary team approach to diagnose and treat patients with acute psychiatric illnesses. The hospital is a leader in the use of evidence-based medicine and data analytics to formulate effective care decisions. The treatment and management of psychiatric care at JGPH is nationally recognized as a best practice and is a model for other programs across the country.

As a member of the Alameda Health System, John George Psychiatric Hospital has a direct connection to a nationally known institution of medical and educational excellence and its expanded health care services.

FACTS WORTH NOTING

- JGPH scores in the top 10 percent on patient satisfaction across psychiatric hospitals nationwide.
- The JGPH Labyrinth Therapy Program is the second of its kind in the nation and the only one on the west coast.
- JGPH partnered with the National Alliance for Mental Illness (NAMI) to create a new chapter in Alameda County.
- JGPH is a national leader in the non-use of 'seclusion and restraint' for emergency patients.
- JGPH is known for creating the Alameda Model used to decrease emergency department boarding and reduce the need for psychiatric hospitalizations.

SERVICES

JGPH houses several inpatient units for both involuntary and voluntary patients who have an acute psychiatric illness. Treatments include medication, psychotherapy, milieu therapy, group therapy, occupational therapy and activity therapy. Other services include the Peer Mentor Program, chaplain services, pet therapy and community recovery support. All patients are referred to the appropriate level of care upon discharge.

Psychiatric Emergency Services provides psychiatric evaluation, intervention and referral for voluntary and involuntary patients around the clock every day of the week. Crisis intervention and urgent medication assessments are provided by qualified, multidisciplinary teams of mental health professionals.

JGPH provides psychiatric consultation, 5150 (psychiatric hold) clearance, and referral to appropriate mental health agencies on the Highland and Fairmont Campuses, as well as at the Alameda Health System Wellness Centers.
