Alameda Health System names Sheila Lyzwa Vice President, Care Management

Oakland, Calif. — Alameda Health System (AHS) announced today that Sheila Lyzwa has been named Vice President of Care Management. Lyzwa is an experienced health care leader who will play a key role in developing, implementing and managing a health care model that reinforces AHS’s commitment to quality, safety and service for patients.

“Lyzwa is an experienced health care leader who will play a key role in developing, implementing and managing a health care model that reinforces our commitment to quality, safety and service for our patients,” said Alameda Health System Chief Executive Officer, Delvecchio Finley.

Lyzwa has over 15 years of health care management experience, including strategic planning and process improvement. She recently served as director of case management and social services at Marin General Hospital in Greenbrae, Calif., where she led the implementation of a new care model to incorporate care coordination, utilization management and discharge planning. Lyzwa also led the case management department at Mills-Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame, Calif., an affiliate of Sutter Health, where she was responsible for operational improvements, including standardized processes for discharge planning. She served as director of case management and referral operations at Brown and Toland Medical Group in San Francisco where she developed and implemented clinical program guidelines for several patient care programs.

As the Vice President of Care Management, Lyzwa is responsible for managing Alameda Health System Care Management and Social Work Departments. She reports to the Chief Medical Officer. Lyzwa is an accredited case manager, certified in process improvement, and experienced in capitation management for various payment models including Medi-Cal, Medicare and commercial payers. She holds a Master of Health Science Administration from San Jose State University and a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Hunter College in New York.
