Arnold Brillinger spoke about concerns over the stress and anger the staff at the SNF were experiencing and how it was affecting the patients. He asked the administration to improve the environment for staff and patients.
Mira Elnan and Amelia Breyre, both medical residents at AHS, spoke regarding the work they do, mostly during off hours for about $15 an hour. Over the last three months they have grown increasingly worried about ongoing negotiations that were undermining their ability to do their jobs. They said they only recently received work cell phones to use for professional purposes and now the administration wanted to take them away.

   _Ghassan Jamaleddeen MD, Chair, Alameda Health Partners_

   Dr. Bhuket recused himself from Item F1, as an employee of OakCare, and left the room.

   Trustee DeVries said that Alameda Health Partners (AHP) and OakCare had been in negotiations for a few months and they had come close with broad agreement on the principles of a doctor led organization appointed by and granted authority by the Board of Trustees. He recognized the existing trust issues. He discussed the importance of the nonnegotiable, non-arbitrary deadlines. He discussed the miscommunication regarding what was the final best offer by the administration. He appointed Trustees Aboelata and Hernandez to facilitate a dialogue regarding the MOU in the packet in the next seven days. He requested the OakCare doctors vote on the document, in no more than 10 days. If the document is approved Trustees Aboelata and Hernandez can facilitate the group through the details over the next six months. If the document is not approved he asked that OakCare release its doctors, so they can apply to keep their jobs at AHS and that OakCare release AHP from their obligations.

   Dr. Savio, OakCare President, detailed the recent history of the negotiations. He said the current plan differed in a few key provisions that should not impact the needs of AHS but remain important to the physicians. They took into consideration the needs of the large body of physicians as well as the needs of AHS. He said he was saddened to see the termination of negotiations when they were close to reaching consensus.

   Trustee Charland arrived at 5:38PM.
Dr. Hern spoke regarding some details in the Board packet he cited as misinformation. He said there was no advisement by AHP that the proposal was unacceptable. He said that draft bylaws were created that included input by OakCare. He gave an example of a challenged system.

Dr. Nelson said they work for OakCare but were there to serve Oakland with AHS. They all wanted a unified medical group governed by physicians from this hospital and this community, which would be responsible to this Board on equal terms with the AHS leadership. He said he could not believe the members of the unification team voted for this plan.

Trustee DeVries said that AHS needed to know that the doctors were going to be there, and the negotiations were holding up that process. The deadlines may have seemed arbitrary, but they were critical. He said they needed a vote and a commitment in writing to move forward.

Dr. Bullard said that the events of the last few days had been very discouraging. She gave a history of events leading up to the current situation and said that the focus needed to be on keeping the group of dedicated people in the organization. The process needed to keep moving forward and everyone needed to feel comfortable with the outcome.

Dr. Jamaleddine said everyone in the room was there by choice. He said that the interests, values, and mission were unified and could be achieved. He reviewed the history of the changes OakCare and AHP have been through. He said it was important to have not only the dedicated and hardworking physicians that they already had, but they also needed strong financial planners. He said it was time to sign the deal and move forward.

Mr. Finley clarified that it was implied that AHP and AHS were one in the same. There was representation on the AHP Board by AHS leadership, but it was dangerous to equate decisions made by AHP as administrative decisions because they were not. He said that from as early as his interview he was made aware of a strong fracture between the medical leadership and the administrative leadership. He has worked, with the assistance of the Board to mend that by putting more physicians in administrative as well as clinical leadership roles and try to broker investment in providers as administrative leaders.

Trustee Banerjee said that they were so close. She hoped the next 10 days would be very productive and they all would work together.

Trustee Chicoine said it was important to remember that there were good people in the conversation. There was also fear of change. He said the moment has come and, while the Board of Trustees would not prescribe what action, they were requesting action.
Dr. Jamaledine said that no one knew what would happen tomorrow. As doctors they depend on trust and faith in every interaction with their patients. That’s what they needed now, there was no guarantee, but they needed to start with trust and faith with each other.

Trustee Hernandez said the path forward would have to involve some level of compromise or everything would be lost. She advised them to look for common ground and focusing on the organizational values.
